Celebration of Water

Vorasan Supap

Artist

Millennium Hilton Bangkok together with Carpediem Galleries present a one-man show featuring the paintings of artist Vorasan Supap. Discover gentler times in Thailand captured in quiet light and shadow.

Vorasan Supap's highly evocative paintings depict life on the Chao Phraya river where he used to live before coming to study art in Bangkok from his native Isarn. A graduate of Silpakorn University, Vorasan has brought a natural understanding of the lives of the people living by the river to his technically striking works. Utilizing shadow and quiet light, his calm realism captures the simple existence of those who make their home on the waterway. From barges at rest to wooden porches on the riverbank and a lifetime of belongings piled high in dense sleeping and eating quarters, these images are expressed in sympathetic yet remarkable detail.

Vorasan's new show is a "Celebration of Water" with one scene of krathongs on the water being dedicated to the Loy Krathong festival. Another masterpiece is a 5 meter long painting of his signature barges – a long dramatic piece he painstakingly decided to do because he wanted to show the range of the river.

"Celebration of Water" will be opened by Khunying Chodchoy Sophonpanich on Thursday, October 26th 2006 at the new Millennium Hilton Bangkok across the river on Charoennakorn Road at the hotel's Thonburi Ballroom.

After the opening night, the paintings will be located at the lobby level of the hotel for the pleasure of guests who come to celebrate Loy Krathong there on the 5th November. The show runs at the Millennium Hilton Bangkok Thursday 9th November. And from Sat 11th Nov. till Sat 9th Dec at Carpediem Galleries on Soi Ruam Rudi.

"Celebration of Water"

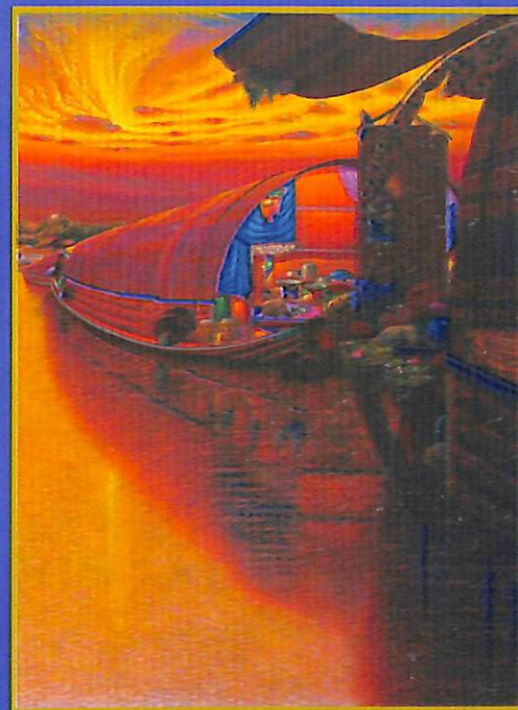

The Chao Phraya is the "River of Kings" – a long winding body of water that forms the principal artery of Thai livelihood. Life along this river continues with rustic simplicity and tranquility. Even those who are not river folk can often empathize with a touch of envy such a life. Embracing this view – a water world he once lived and lost, the artist illustrates in vivid colour the quiet value of Thai life in its simplest and most romanticized setting.
