Special Olympics is the only international sports organization for the mentally handicapped. It has been built based upon the belief that participation in sports has proven to be one of the best ways to help mentally handicapped people gain self confidence, physical dexterity and social acceptance.

Special Olympics of Thailand (SOT) is the Thai arm of the international body. Thailand became first involved in 1977 when we were invited to send a delegation of mentally handicapped sportsmen/women to observe the 1987 International Summer Special Olympic Games in Indiana, U.S.A. SOT was formed later that year and participated in the 1991 International Games in Minnesota. SOT also held annual National Games each year, the latest being in February in 1992. This very successful event was presided by Prime Minister Anand Panyarachun and involved over 400 sports participants and 250 volunteers.

SOT is a non - profit charitable organization with no source of income other than through the generosity of sponsors and the public.

We believe SOT can make a real difference to the lives of Thailand's mentally handicapped and are committed to developing the programme.

Dialogue 1991 is one of the new modern art galleries in Bangkok. It is primarily committed to promoting the excellence and growth of Thai contemporary art. Any society without art is basically a society without soul. The same could be said for any society which has no charity to help out those less fortunate. Therefore we at Dialogue are extremely proud to be able to participate with Jardine Fleming Thongkorn Securities Ltd. to stage "a first of it's kind" art auction with all proceeds going towards Special Olympics of Thailand. We would also like to thank all the artists represented here; without their kind contribution this event would not be possible.

The management of Dialogue.
